Hello Candice,

My husband and I received in the mail today, a notice of application for an 'After the Fact' Development Variance Permit submitted by a neighbour our ours (6729 Magna Bay Drive). I understand we are able to see the permit application and relevant background documents, however our fulltime residence is in the Lower Mainland and we will not be near Salmon Arm to view them. I wonder if you could provide us with any further information?

Our concern is less about the size of the Oversized buildings that have already been built, but rather what they are being used for. There is a creek bordering that property that is used as a water supply to a number of residences including our own and if industrial activity is planning to take place, how will any waste produced be handled? Our own property is downstream from the new buildings and contamination to that creek would be devastating to us.

Your help is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
